A long time favourite of many of our customers, Café San Miguel is the coffee that we first brought to you via our then novel idea of Direct Fair Trade. This coffee is grown on small-scale farms near Andes in the province of Antioquia, Colombia. In the cup you'll find caramel and cocoa fragrances, a smooth but full bodied flavour with citrus lemon hints and a great mouth-feel. We all know the place where we were the first time we tasted Café San Miguel.

Café Pangoa is our equivalent to a 'sleeper box office hit'. An excellent coffee, fantastic crema with a solid but quiet following. We wonder about Café Pangoa like you would wonder about your quiet, cooperative child – why no kuffule?

Could be because we had a photo of a bird on the Pangoa package for a few years (don't ask).

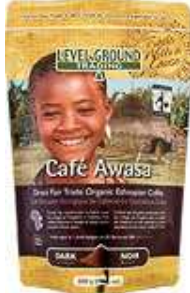

Want a no-nonsense, high quality cup of coffee? Peru has grown this one for you.

Café La Paz is the coffee that always impresses. Our fav is the medium roast. We brew it, pull a shot of it, press it & no matter what technique we apply, it gives us a great cup of coffee. This coffee is grown by farmers who have won a prestigious Cup of Excellence award.

This coffee is grown by friendly, confident, amicable people in a lush, mountainous region alongside, athletic goats, bicycles and bananas. What a picture to accompany your morning cup of coffee! For maximum impact, we suggest you sit outside while enjoying this coffee (Canadians may wish to exercise this option seasonally).

Join in on thousands of years of coffee drinking history. Ethiopia has got coffee figured out including a soothing ritual of how to prepare and set aside time to appreciate coffee. We are honored to offer this fabulous Ethiopian coffee.

With your own coffee ritual we encourage you to include some reflection time on how you are contributing to others through your support of Fair Trade and how you are connected with Ethiopian farmer's by enjoying their coffee
